Introduction

In November 1998, the voters of California passed Proposition 10, the California Children and Families Act of 1998, the “Act.” Funded from additional excise taxes imposed on tobacco products, the Act is directed to promoting, supporting, and improving the early development of children from the prenatal stage to five years of age. The Act facilitates the creation and implementation of comprehensive and collaborative systems and services to enhance optimal early childhood development. It emphasizes local decision making to provide for greater flexibility and access to services.

The Proposition 10 funds are administered at the state level by the California Children and Families Commission (First 5 California) and at the county level by county children and families commissions appointed by local boards of supervisors. Before county commissions can allocate these funds, they must adopt comprehensive strategic plans consistent with the intent of the Act.

The San Francisco Children and Families Commission (SFCCF)

In accordance with provisions of the Act, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors appointed the nine Commissioners on the San Francisco Children and Families Commission (First 5 San Francisco) in May 1999. They reflect San Francisco's diverse population, its well-developed child health and development sector, and its commitment to public-private partnership in planning and implementation of complex public policy.

The mission of the San Francisco Children and Families Commission is to instill an enduring obligation in San Francisco residents and government to ensure the opportunity for optimal health and development for every child born and raised in this county. This means a commitment to support young children and their families from prenatal to five years of age through abundant opportunities to be healthy, learn, and grow. Children will reach their full potential. Families will be empowered and engaged civic partners in the work of the Commission. The Commission funds activities in the areas of child and family health, family support and parent education, early childhood education, and children with special needs (i.e., children with disabilities and homeless children).

Copies of the Strategic Plan can be located on the Commission's website www.sfkids.org, or by calling (415) 934-4849.

Purpose of the SRI RFQ #14: Home Visiting and Outreach Services For Latino Families Transitioning into Kindergarten

Background

Children who are healthy and emotionally, socially, and cognitively ready for school are more likely to have a successful school experience. Through this RFQ, the Commission expects to support comprehensive services that will enhance the environment, learning experiences, and services that children need before entering Kindergarten. Moreover, applicants must demonstrate a capacity to serve the target populations and neighborhoods.

The term "School Readiness" is defined as follows:

- Children's readiness: School Readiness activities must support the five domains of children's development: health and physical well-being, emotional well-being and social development, approaches to learning, communicative skills and cognition, and general knowledge.
- Family and community readiness for school success: School Readiness programs must provide families with appropriate access to support services, including access to health services and services to special needs populations. In addition, School Readiness programs strengthen relationships between community stakeholders. Community stakeholders include the following: parents/primary-care-givers, formal and informal early care and education providers (ECE), child and family-serving agencies, and school district staff.
- Schools' readiness for children: Schools make provisions for a smooth transition for families. Schools commit to the success of every child and apply approaches that have been shown to raise achievement for each student.

The California Children & Families Commission requires that all school readiness programs and activities adhere to the following principles:

- Inclusive Governance and Participation: Policies and practices affirm and strengthen families' ethnic, racial and linguistic identities and enhance their ability to function in a multicultural society.
- Access to Services: Assure that programs provide access to information, resources and support regarding their child's development, including strengths and needs for all families. Promote collaboration across disciplines, service delivery systems and communities.
- Legislative and Regulatory Mandates: Agencies will inform parents of their rights and responsibilities as well as those of their children. In addition, appropriate support services are accessible to children (0-5) and their families regardless of immigration status.
- Results-based Accountability: Set measurable goals and objectives for increasing access and achieving equity. Commit to attaining their stated program outcomes realizing that their results are crucial to ongoing sustainability and advocacy.

Vision

The SRI is a four-year Initiative which aims to improve the ability of families, schools, and communities to prepare children to enter school ready to succeed through the delivery of individual and community targeted support and educational activities.

The SRI is a collaborative amongst private and public institutions, including First 5 San Francisco and the San Francisco Unified School District (SFUSD).

The elementary schools and neighborhoods participating in the SRI (2003-04) are: Cesar Chavez (Mission), Dr. Charles R. Drew Alternative (Bayview/Hunter's Point), Golden Gate Academy (Western Addition), John Muir (Western Addition) and Starr King (Potrero Hill).

The Scope of Services (Section C) describes the components of the School Readiness Initiative in San Francisco. In September (2002), the Commission submitted a grant application to First 5 California, the School Readiness Programs Request For Funding application, describing San Francisco's school readiness strategies. The application was approved in November 2002.

The Application indicated that a portion of School Readiness funds would be allocated to support school readiness staff to implement SRI activities in the target neighborhoods.

Scope of Services

The purpose of this RFQ is to identify a community resource(s) available to deliver home visiting and outreach services to monolingual and bilingual Latino children (4-5 years old) and their families transitioning into Kindergarten at the 5 SRI schools.

Agencies must describe how SRI services will be accessible to children (4-5 years old) and their families.

Agencies must describe how they will provide home visits and outreach services to monolingual and bilingual Latino families. In addition, proposals must clearly articulate a commitment to working with SRI staff and community stakeholders in the SRI target neighborhoods.

With this project the Commission seeks to achieve the following objectives:

- Children are well prepared for entry into schools and schools are ready to help them make that transition.
- All families with children 0-5 have the support, education and information that enables them to promote the optimal health and development of their children.
- Every child age 0-5 is healthy and has access to quality, affordable health care, including physical and mental health services, dental care, and services to address special needs.

Commission funds will support the creation of a new position(s): Home Visiting and Outreach Support Coordinator(s) (HVC).

The HVC will assist SRI neighborhood staff – SRI School Readiness Team Leaders - with providing outreach and home visiting services to incoming monolingual and bilingual Kindergarten families enrolled into Kindergarten at the 5 SRI elementary schools – Cesar Chavez, Dr. Charles Drew, Golden Gate, John Muir and Starr King. The School Readiness Team Leader will serve as the primary neighborhood contact for the SRI. The SRI Team Leader will be responsible for managing and monitoring essential components of the SRI. Home Visiting and Outreach staff will be available to assist SRI Team Leaders with delivery of services to monolingual and bilingual Latino families at schools participating in the SRI. To support SRI staff, the Commission's School Readiness Coordinator will convene regular meetings to provide technical assistance, as needed. On behalf of the neighborhoods participating in the SRI, SRI program staff will link children (0-5) and their families to appropriate support services to improve children's and their families' readiness for school.

The Commission expects that SRI Home Visiting and Outreach Coordinator(s) staff will direct the following activities:

Accountability Worksheet

Instructions:

The California Children & Families Commission requires County Commissions to connect funding to a framework of goals and objectives, and to create concrete ways of measuring results.

As part of this process, we expect to work with all funded partners to track activities and results. The following information defines how the San Francisco Children & Families Commission (SFCFC) will measure the impact of School Readiness activities.

Implementation Plan and Accountability Worksheet Definitions

Step One: Identify Objectives

Using the list prepared by the Commission chose objective(s) that are specific to your proposal. Agencies may propose their own objectives, keeping in mind the goals of the funding as outlined in this RFQ. What does the agency(s) hope to achieve with the School Readiness Initiative Funding? How does the agency expect to serve the target population? What objective(s) are you trying to achieve with each of these activities?

Step Two: Describe Activities

In your Project Narrative, you described the activities you will create with the School Readiness Initiative funding. In the chart below, assign each of these activities to one of the objectives. What activities will families and children experience at your program(s)?

Step Three: Performance Measures

The accountability framework describes how the Commission will concretely measure the success of each activity. In addition to knowing how many children or families will be served, the Commission needs to know whether they were served well.

Performance measures are ways of assessing the satisfaction clients have with programs or the progress children show as a result of some activity. For each activity, applicants may describe additional plans to assess the proposed activities.

Step Four: Describe Data Sources, Methods for Collecting Data

Tell us how you will collect the information for each performance measure. How will you gather feedback from clients? How will you know when children and their families have shown improvement in a specific area as a result of a School Readiness activity?
