VI. Discussion and possible action to approve a contract with Sparkler in the amount of $12,500 for Developmental Screening Mobile Technology Pilot Project from June 1, 2019 to May 31, 2020.

Staff presented this contract will allow the piloting of a screening process not reliant on paper forms and routing. Sparkler was used in a test at 10 early education sites that were already high performing in administering developmental screening tools. This pilot will explore technology supports for developmental screening process in a broader field of sites.

Pilot will initiate in early summer with limited number of sights and minimal customization of the software package to assess viability and fit for a broader sample of early education sites.

Commissioners and staff discussed that Sparkler allows parents to complete assessments at home via a phone app or web browser. The pilot will provide information to see how well Sparkler is adaptable to our local early education providers and sub-groups in our parent population. By ending the grant in May, it’s anticipated year’s screening will be complete and analysis of that experience can be reported.
